

Lloyd Mangrum

Lloyd Mangrum, was by any measure, a tough guy. He was decorated for bravery in World War II after serving as an infantryman in Europe. His pencil-thin mustache and cold, dark eyes made him seem especially menacing.

One year, at a players' meeting, the Tour's policymakers announced that there would be substantial fines for players who used obscenities on the course.

Lloyd suggested they just fine him now!

